

JOB VACANCY

Visual Merchandisers - Freelance

Parlane (part of the Gallery Direct Group) are one of the UK's top interior companies, who design and supply home accessories to the trade. We consider ourselves one of the most progressive and innovative companies in the home accessory business.

We are looking for Freelance Visual Merchandisers to mainly help with creating displays at our various retail concessions and consignments located in the North and South East of the UK. However, we also have two large showrooms and exhibit at two trade shows.

The ideal candidates would already have a good experience in creating imaginative and fashionable displays, and demonstrating commercial and artistic skills. Experience in retail display would be desirable and floristry skills would be advantageous. You must be a very confident communicator and be able to use your own initiative, producing work of a high standard to a given deadline.

Parlane holds a unique position in the market and has developed its own style of visual merchandising. The successful candidates would need to embrace this style.
